A sneak peek into College Life at Algonquin College's annual Open House

Algonquin College is opening its doors for a peek into its classrooms, labs, and services during its annual Open House, Thursday, November 5. Potential students will be able to take part in the day's events which include visiting classrooms and one-on-one conversations with faculty, staff, students and alumni at the program trade-show in the gym. The day will be broken up into two event sessions, one in the morning and one in the evening. Check out www.algonquincollege.com/openhouse for a complete schedule.
