Volunteers within the museum community are always in high demand. With this in mind, Algonquin College's Applied Museum Studies program is bringing together 21 regional museums, several professional museum organizations and 128 museum studies students for an evening of insight, networking and volunteer opportunities. The event, entitled Opportunities 06/07 – Regional Museum Volunteerism, provides regional cultural institutions an occasion to present volunteer projects and opportunities to students and potential volunteers in attendance.

Who: Kim Tysick, Chair, Community Studies, Algonquin College. Representatives from 21 Ottawa-area museums, heritage organizations and historical associations.
