

MEDIA ADVISORY

Date sent: November 17, 2004
Date of event: November 19, 2004

Algonquin College Opens First-of-a-kind Health Science Simulation Lab

Representatives from all levels of government will be present Friday, Nov. 19 when Algonquin College opens a new, first-of-a-kind simulation lab that will dramatically alter nursing training in Canada. Unique in the way in which technology is integrated into the learning landscape, the lab address issues such as the increasing need for clinical training spaces and enhanced training opportunities for internationally educated nurses and multi-disciplinary teams.

Who: Robert Gillett, President, Algonquin College
Herb Kreling, Chair, Algonquin College Board of Governors
Marie Cormier, Dean, School of Health and Community Studies, Algonquin College
Marlene Catterall, MP, Ottawa West – Nepean
Jim Brownell, MPP, Stormont – Dundas – Charlottenburgh,
Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Health and Long-Term Care
Rick Chiarelli, Ottawa City Counsellor, Baseline Ward

What: Algonquin College Health Science Simulation Lab Opening

When: Friday, November 19, 2004
4:15 p.m. - Ribbon cutting: 4:45 p.m.

Where: Algonquin College
1385 Woodroffe Avenue
Rooms B255 – 257

-30-

For more information, contact:

Jeannette Smith
Manager, Media Relations
Algonquin College
Office: (613) 727-4723 ext. 5450
Cell: 220-7796

1385 Woodroffe Avenue

Ottawa, Ontario

Canada

K2G 1V8

Public Relations

and Communications

Department

Office: 613-727-4723

ext. 7664

Fax: 613-727-7610