

MEDIA ADVISORY

Date sent: October 5, 2004
Date of event: October 7, 2004

New Algonquin Transportation Technology Centre Addresses Worker Shortage in Skilled Trades

Representatives from all levels of government will be on hand Thursday, October 7 when Algonquin College officially opens its newest facility, a $6.8 million Transportation Technology Centre. Hear what area politicians have to say about the importance of such facilities in addressing the growing shortage of skilled workers in Canada.

Who: Marlene Catterall, MP, Ottawa-West Nepean
Richard Patten, MPP, Ottawa Center
Sandie Birkhead-Kirk, Director of the Workplace Training Branch,
Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities
Eli El-Chantiry, Deputy Mayor, City of Ottawa
Robert Gillett, President, Algonquin College
John-Paul Tapp, Dean, School of Transportation and Building Trades

What: Official Opening of the Algonquin College Transportation
Technology Centre

When: Thursday, October 7, 2004
1:30 p.m.

Where: Algonquin College
Woodroffe Campus
S Building
1385 Woodroffe Avenue

1385 Woodroffe Avenue

Ottawa, Ontario

Canada

K2G 1V8

Public Relations

and Communications

Department

Office: 613-727-4723

ext. 7664

Fax: 613-727-7610

-30-

Free Parking adjacent to the S building – see map at www.algonquincollege.com

For more information, contact:

Jeannette Smith
Manager, Media Relations
Algonquin College
Office: (613) 727-4723 ext. 5450
Cell: 220-7796