Who: Cave Spring Cellars representative Andrew Cieszkowski will present Algonquin College Sommelier Program graduate June Dewetering with the fifth Cave Spring Sommelier Award of Excellence at the C.A. Paradis Gala Award Dinner.

 Natalie Maclean, widely-published wine writer and wine columnist, will also be on hand to give the keynote address.

What: The Cave Spring Cellars Sommelier Award of Excellence is given to the Algonquin College Sommelier Program's most outstanding student of each graduating class. The award includes a commemorative plaque, an all-inclusive trip for two to the Niagara wine region, and a V.I.P. winery tour.

When: Tuesday, February 19, 2002 at 9:00 p.m.

Where: Restaurant International, Algonquin College's Woodroffe Campus

Why: The Sommelier Certificate Program is a two-year program at Algonquin College's Woodroffe Campus that boasts the region's only dedicated wine-tasting room, the C.A. Paradis Wine Lab, as well as the region's only Ministry of Education certification for Sommeliers.

There are over 350 students registered annually in Algonquin College's Sommelier Certificate Program. Past graduates have gained positions as sommeliers, restaurateurs, and marketing and sales executives in the food, wine, and beverage industry across Canada and the United States.
