

Succession Planning and Knowledge Transfer | 2 days

DESCRIPTION:

The success of any sustainable business model is built partly on the quality of the people doing the work. It also depends on how you transfer the knowledge they have to others. So, if someone wins the lottery, or goes on an extended vacation, others can easily transition into the role seamlessly with no business hiccups. We often call this succession planning. During this workshop, you will become clear on what needs to fall into place so you can have ease of mind and the organization has business continuity.
