Course Description

Visual communications and graphic design have played a key role in the evolution of communication through a number of historical and social art movements. Graphic design has had a major impact on civilizations over the ages. Students explore graphic design's many influences, including the invention of writing and alphabets, the origins of printing and typography, Victorian, Art Nouveau, Modern Art, and PostModern design, to the present day computer revolution and its influence on the many forms of contemporary visual communication that surround us every day.

Course Related Information

This is an online general education course. Regular participation will enhance your success in this course. Late work will not be accepted without sufficient reason or a doctor's note and/or prior approval from Professor. Late material is subjected to an automatic 10% deduction daily until assignment is received by the course instructor. Then item will be graded as usual and then late deductions will be applied.

Attendance is vital in this course as the topics build weekly. Online activities are tracked and reported. It is recommended that you notify the professor in advance of any expected "Away from a computer" absences and negotiate how assignments or responsibilities will be maintained. If you miss more than three weekly assignments your ability to be successful will be examined and you may be asked to meet with the coordinator, student success specialist, and/or dean. Extented missed assignments can result of you being asked to withdraw from the course. All students are evaluated on an ongoing basis as well as at mid term. Marks will not be deducted if you have a doctor's note or sufficient reason. Sufficient reason is determined by the course instructor. It is up to you as a student to discuss any issues with the instructor firstly if all possible.
Email
Algonquin College provides all full-time students with an e-mail account. This is the address that will be used when the College, your professors, or your fellow students communicate important information about your program or course events. It is your responsibility to ensure that you know how to send and receive e-mail using your Algonquin account and to check it regularly.

Students with Disabilities
If you are a student with a disability, you are strongly encouraged to make an appointment at the Centre for Accessible Learning to identify your needs. Ideally, this should be done within the first month of your program, so that a Letter of Accommodation (LOA) can be provided to your professors. If you are a returning student, please ensure that professors are given a copy of your LOA each semester.

Retroactive Accommodations
Students are expected to meet evaluation and completion deadlines as stated in course outline and course section information documents. In circumstances where evaluation and/or completion deadlines are missed or student performance has been affected by a temporary or permanent disability (including mental health), interim or retroactive accommodations may be considered. In such instances, please consult your course faculty member. For other situations where deferral of evaluations may be warranted, please refer to college policy AA21.

Academic Integrity & Plagiarism
Adherence to acceptable standards of academic honesty is an important aspect of the learning process at Algonquin College. Academic work submitted by a student is evaluated on the assumption that the work presented by the student is his or her own, unless designated otherwise. For further details consult Algonquin College Policies AA18: Academic Dishonesty and Discipline and AA20: Plagiarism

Student Course Feedback
It is Algonquin College’s policy to give students the opportunity to share their course experience by completing a student course feedback survey for each course they take. For further details consult Algonquin College Policy AA25: Student Course Feedback

Use of Electronic Devices in Class
With the proliferation of small, personal electronic devices used for communications and data storage, Algonquin College believes there is a need to address their use during classes and examinations. During classes, the use of such devices is disruptive and disrespectful to others. During examinations, the use of such devices may facilitate cheating. For further details consult Algonquin College Policy AA32: Use of Electronic Devices in Class

Transfer of Credit
It is the student’s responsibility to retain course outlines for possible future use to support applications for transfer of credit to other educational institutions.

Note: It is the student's responsibility to refer to the Algonquin College Policies website for the most current
