Office Administration - General

Ontario College Certificate

Program Code: 0210X01FWO

1 Year

Ottawa Campus

Our Program

Play a central role in operational success - explore a career in office administration.

The one-year Office Administration Ontario College Certificate program provides the knowledge and skills that prepare you for a rewarding office administration career.

Develop both theoretical and applied skills during various simulated office situations. Practise conducting administrative procedures and producing industry-standard documents. Enhance your ability to use digital tools by conducting research and mastering Microsoft Office applications and other industry-standard software packages.

Our experienced faculty is dedicated to preparing you with the skills you need to succeed in your career. Graduate with essential office skills, as well as critical skills for success, such as resourcefulness, responsibility, creative thinking and problem solving.

After graduating, this flexible one-year program gives you the option to pursue a specialized education by taking one of Algonquin College's Office Administration diploma programs. Earn a diploma after completing one more year of studies in either the Executive or Health Services specializations.

Graduates may find employment opportunities in a variety of entry-level support staff or administration positions in both public and private sectors.

Course Descriptions

ACC2207 Bookkeeping

The ability to accurately record day-to-day transactions is an essential skill for bookkeepers and office administration staff. Students complete the full accounting cycle from identifying and recording business transactions through to the preparation of financial statements using Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). Activities focus on the manual preparation of accounting records.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

ENL1813B Communications I

Communication remains an essential skill sought by employers, regardless of discipline or field of study. Using a practical, vocation-oriented approach, students develop stronger grammar and business-writing skills to become effective business communicators. Through a combination of lectures, exercises, and independent learning, students practise writing, speaking, reading, listening, locating and documenting information, and using technology to communicate professionally. Students develop and strengthen communication skills that contribute to success in both educational and workplace environments.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

ENL1962 English Fundamentals

Students develop language skills necessary to promote success in program courses and, ultimately, business careers. Students achieve correctness and mastery in writing sentences appropriate to a business environment through the study of English language usage, grammar, mechanics, and style. Skills acquired in these areas enable students to demonstrate competence in composing, editing, and proofreading written messages.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GED0210 General Education Elective

Students choose one course from a group of general education electives, which meets one of the following four theme requirements: Arts in Society, Civic Life, Social and Cultural Understanding, and Personal Understanding.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2300 Advanced Word Processing

Efficient use of computers and office productivity tools is essential for the timely completion of assigned tasks in the workplace. Students continue to develop their skills with office productivity tools. Through a series of activities and practical tests, students enhance their abilities with advanced word processing functions, ensuring that they are following instructions, proofreading and using software functions correctly.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2325 Keyboarding 1

Learning and applying ergonomic techniques for touch keyboarding are essential skills in today's office environment. Students develop touch keyboarding skills using an automated software application in an online environment. Students learn to touch-key the alphabet and numbers, developing keyboarding accuracy and speed to meet productivity standards.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2326 Digital Workspace Applications

In our rapidly evolving workspace environment, efficient use of computers and office productivity tools is essential for the timely completion of assigned tasks. Beginning with the operating system, students develop a range of valuable skills to manage daily work flow including file management, digital communication tools, calendar management, and a variety of collaboration applications.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2327 Keyboarding 2

Possessing efficient keyboarding skills are essential for productivity in today's office environment. Students continue to build on the keyboarding skills developed in level 1, increasing accuracy and speed using an automated software application in an online environment to meet productivity standards.

Prerequisite(s): OFF2325
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2335 Presentation Applications

Efficient use of presentation applications is vital in today's workplace. Students develop presentation software skills through a series of activities and practical tests, increasing abilities with presentation software. Emphasis is placed on following instructions, proofreading, and using software functions correctly.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2336 Document Production 1

The ability to produce documents that meet acceptable Canadian business standards is an essential skill in today's office environment. Students develop skills creating and formatting documents for business-related correspondence with an emphasis on accuracy, ability to follow instructions, proofreading and editing, and the correct use of software functions.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2337 Document Production 2

Business documents represent proof of an organization's communications and transactions and, as such, must be produced in an efficient and consistent manner. Students further develop productivity rates with an emphasis on following instructions, proofreading and editing, and correct use of software functions. Students create, edit, and format formal reports and more complex business correspondence.

Prerequisite(s): OFF2325 and OFF2336
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2338 Administrative Skills and Procedures

Although tools and techniques may change, the role of the administrative professional remains a valuable asset in all types of organizations. With the increase in technology, the human touch remains a cornerstone of business interactions and achievement of goals. Topics explored include support staff responsibilities, time management, front-line reception and public relations, cultural diversity, records management, postal and courier services, reference sources, office organization and layout, ergonomics, time, work, and resource management, teamwork and problem solving, telecommunication techniques, services and equipment. Practical assignments and case studies examine both the organization and dissemination of oral and written communication.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

OFF2395 Spreadsheet Applications (OA)

A spreadsheet application's ability to automate mathematical calculations has ensured it is one of the most popular types of business applications in the modern office. Students produce and format professional looking spreadsheets that include basic and complex mathematical formulas. In addition, the data in these spreadsheets are transformed into charts and tables in order to summarize, analyze, manipulate, and share spreadsheet data more effectively.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

QUA2227 Business Math Foundations

Students review the essentials of business mathematics. Ratio, proportion and percent are covered. Students also study payroll-type applications. Students study mark-up and mark-downs, cost-volume-profit analysis, simple and compound interest, compute measures of central tendency and dispersion.
