Additional Information

CO-OP INFORMATION:

Co-operative education (Co-op) allows students to integrate their classroom learning with a real-world experience through paid work terms. Two academic terms prior to the cooperative education work term, students are required to actively participate in and successfully complete the self-directed co-op course, readiness activities and workshops.

Students must actively conduct a guided, self-directed job search and are responsible for securing approved program-related paid co-op employment. Students compete for co-op positions alongside students from Algonquin College and other Canadian and international colleges and universities. Algonquin College's Co-op Department provides assistance in developing co-op job opportunities and guides the overall process, but does not guarantee that a student will obtain employment in a co-op work term. Co-op students may be required to relocate to take part in the co-op employment opportunities available in their industry and must cover all associated expenses; e.g., travel, work permits, visa applications, accommodation and all other incurred expenses.

Co-op work terms are typically 14 weeks in duration and are completed during a term when students are not taking courses. For more information on your program's co-op level(s), visit the courses tab on your program's webpage.

International students enrolled in a co-op program are required by Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) to have a valid Co-op/Internship Work Permit prior to commencing their work term. Without this document International students are not legally eligible to engage in work in Canada that is part of an academic program. The Co-op/Internship Work Permit does not authorize international students to work outside the requirements of their academic program.

For more information on co-op programs, the co-op work/study schedule, as well as general and program-specific co-op eligibility criteria, please visit <https://www.algonquincollege.com/coop>.

Successful completion of all courses, including mandatory cooperative education (Co-op) Work Terms, is a requirement for graduation.

TRANSFER CREDIT RECOGNITION:

Applicants with degrees or degree level courses from Canadian institutions empowered to award degrees and from other degree granting institutions recognized by the Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities (MCU) are assessed on a case-by-case basis. To receive a course credit, a minimum grade of C- (60%) is required. Official transcripts and course descriptions/outlines must be presented with the application for credit recognition. Applicants with degrees or degree level courses from countries other than Canada or from postsecondary institutions not recognized by the MCU must have their degrees evaluated by a recognized Canadian public or private institution that specializes in the evaluation of international degree programs.

ADVANCED STANDING Graduates of related Ontario College Diploma or Ontario College Advanced Diploma programs may be eligible for advanced standing into the degree program. Please visit the degree program listing or speak to the Program Coordinator for more information and to confirm eligibility.

DEGREE ELECTIVE INFORMATION:

Students may choose from a variety of breadth courses. Courses from a range of disciplines are offered within the humanities, social sciences, sciences, global cultures and mathematics. Elective offerings vary from semester to semester.

FOD6128 Project Management in Food and Beverage Operations

Students explore, from a managerial point of view, the complexity and demands of project management in food and beverage service operations. Students learn how to plan, organize, staff and evaluate a food and beverage service function. A combination of lectures and the execution of an actual function emphasizes the praxis between theory and practice. The theory component of this course enables students to examine managerial responsibilities in various types of food and beverage operations. The practical component allows students to manage fundamental functions of food and beverage service operation management including forecasting, promotion, sales, purchasing, human resources, scheduling, food and beverage production, finance and quality performance review. (Prerequisite: Fourth Year Standing).

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GEO2300 Principles of Urban Planning

Increasingly cities and communities are feeling the pressure of expansion, and people from all walks of life feel disconnected from the processes, procedures, and decisions that are affecting everyday life. Students consider urban transformation with a focus on practicing sustainability by exploring innovations in land use, transportation, resource planning and economic development, resulting in employment opportunities, as well as healthy and vibrant cities. Students use local and regional activities as a starting point for developing a knowledge base for future social and community involvement. Research projects and assignments encourage students to identify the gaps between theoretical approaches to urban planning and the practical applications as evidenced in their local surroundings.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GEP1001 Cooperative Education and Job Readiness

Students are guided through a series of activities that prepare them to conduct a professional job search and succeed in the workplace. Through a detailed orientation students learn the cooperative education program policies and procedures related to searching and securing a work term opportunity. Students identify their strengths and transferable skills and participate in workshop-style sessions that focus on cover letter and resume development, interview techniques and job search strategies. Students learn how to navigate a web-based resource centre, which is used to post employment and cooperative education job opportunities. Students reflect on workplace success, ethics and responsibilities.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6126 Hospitality Business Simulation and Analysis

Students experience the operation and management of a hotel using the Hotel Operational Training Simulation (HOTS) software program. Working in teams, students determine strategies, make decisions and apply business management principles across various departments and functional areas including finance, sales, marketing, operations and human resources. (Prerequisite: Fourth Year Standing).

Prerequisite(s): ACC6124

Corerequisite(s): none

HOS6130 Career Development and Management

Students prepare for the transition from school to the workforce. Students assess their personal skills and attributes, explore career opportunities and paths within the hospitality and tourism industry and use these findings to establish career goals. They simulate the job search process by creating a targeted resume, practicing interviewing techniques and developing a working professional portfolio. Hands-on workshops and seminars on topics including business etiquette, networking and workplace relationships, provide students with the skills they require to navigate, advance and succeed in today's dynamic workplace. (Prerequisite: Fourth Year Standing).

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s): none

HOS6133 Cases in Hospitality and Tourism Management

This capstone course challenges students to synthesize and integrate course material from all functional areas of the program. Case studies illustrate realistic situations from the hospitality and tourism industry to help contextualize learning. Working in teams, students use problem solving, decision making and critical-thinking skills to analyze cases and evaluate and formulate solutions. Students are required to present and justify their case study findings both orally and in written formats. (Prerequisite: Fourth Year Standing).

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s): none

HOS6135 Strategic Management in Hospitality and Tourism

Students are challenged to synthesize and integrate course material from all functional areas of the program and to apply their learning in a real-world case study setting. Working individually and in teams, students work with hospitality or tourism business case studies to understand the development of a long-term strategic plan. They demonstrate their ability to perform relevant research, analyze and interpret results, and manage the strategic planning process used to develop and communicate a strategic plan. (Prerequisite: Fourth Year Standing).

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s): none

HOS6137 Culinary and Beverage Tourism

Culinary tourism offers an authentic cultural experience by encouraging tourists to learn about and make the connection between travel, food and beverage. Students focus on various aspects of food and beverage supply chain management, such as manufacturing, distribution and the output of products from local and global communities using a theoretical and practical approach.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s): none

HRM6118 Organizational Behaviour

Organizational behaviour through the various methods, theories, principles and accepted research in the field is introduced. Students learn about the behaviour of individuals and small groups in the workplace, as well as the whole organization and its relation to the environment. They learn to apply principles and current research to predict and interpret behaviours of individuals and groups.

LAN3101 Spanish - Level 1

The Spanish language is an asset when communicating in the workplace. Students with no prior knowledge of Spanish acquire basic forms and structures to interact and communicate in a simple way with Spanish speakers. Class instruction and practice, repeated feedback, and exposure to a variety of language samples support students to gain basic oral expression and comprehension using simple phrases that develop vocabulary, pronunciation, and comprehension. Students begin to appreciate cultural and linguistic differences when Spanish is used in the workplace.

LAW2014 Law

The reach of the rule of law extends into our lives on a daily basis. As much as it is present in our lives, very few people are aware of the processes, procedures and theories that guide and underpin the development and maintenance of a functional legal system. With attention to key historical figures and events, students explore the scope, jurisdiction, and key concepts of the sub-disciplines within the field of law. Through an introduction to legal arguments and methodologies, students distinguish between various legal systems and wrestle with the difference between law and justice.

Prerequisite(s): none

MGT6117 Revenue Management in Hospitality and Tourism

Implementing a revenue management strategy can be one of the most significant revenue generating initiatives available to the hospitality industry. Students learn how to identify and exploit opportunities for revenue optimization in different business contexts - specifically the tourism industry. A particular emphasis is placed on the two principle building blocks of revenue management systems: tactical pricing optimization and capacity allocation strategies.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6120 Entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship and small business management are introduced from a Canadian perspective. Students develop the skills required to identify and evaluate a business opportunity; they investigate organizational structures of businesses and develop a business plan. A business simulation model provides the opportunity to practice and develop emerging entrepreneurial skills.

Prerequisite(s): ACC6104 and MKT6108 and MKT6111
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6130 International Management

International business management concepts and principles are further developed. Students explore opportunities, risks, and challenges of doing business in the complex global environment and examine organizational functions in an international context. Particular attention is directed to managing people, and processes across borders and cultures.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6131 Risk and Crisis Management

Managing risk, liability and crises are critical elements of any business. Students are introduced to the key principles and concepts and view them within the context of adventure tourism. Students review relevant Canadian laws and liability risks associated with the hospitality and tourism industry, and practice identifying and treating risks common to business environments. Structured management approaches are examined along with a review of the requirements for both accountability and prevention.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

PHI2002 Ethical Decision Making

To avoid potential prosecution, companies and their employees are well-advised to engage in ethical decision-making practices in all business situations. Students examine ethical concepts and principles, compare a variety of ethical decision-making models and utilize these principles and models to make ethically sound decisions in a variety of contexts. Students also design a code of ethics, practice making ethically- based decisions and develop the analytical skills required to recognize, evaluate and resolve ethical dilemmas in the workplace.

Prerequisite(s): PHI1000

PHI4003 The Philosophy of Love and Sex

Love and sex are central to the human condition, and have been topics of academic inquiry and controversy throughout history. Various practices surrounding love and sex are celebrated in Western culture, such as monogamy and marriage, while other practices, such as polygamy and pedophilia, are condemned. Why is this? Students critically explore these and other issues surrounding love and sex using examples from popular music, movies and literature, framing those issues with the help of historical and contemporary philosophical theories and arguments. Students engage in various peer-oriented learning activities throughout the course.

PHI4100 Survival in the Information Age: Risk and the Media

On an almost daily basis, the media, through its various outlets - television, radio, web sites, RSS, and podcasts - reports on issues that address our wellbeing. Through discussions, readings, and assignments, students enhance their ability to interpret and question information presented by the media by better understanding the inherent risks. Issues like alternative medicine (i.e. vaccinations) and socio-legal issues (i.e. bullying, hacking, surveillance, privacy) provide grounds for students to use principles from the social science as a means to think critically about real and perceived risks in daily life.

PHY4000 Black Holes, Big Bangs and the Cosmos

The dynamic and exciting field of Cosmology outlines our current understanding of the Universe from its start, at the so-called Big Bang, through the ensuing 13 plus billion years to the present and beyond. Students learn how to discuss our present understanding of the three phases of the Universe as well as its five part make up, with matter making up only 4% of the whole. Students explain our knowledge of the various phases of evolution of the Cosmos and also the latest theories and experiments that are trying to address our uncertainties. Throughout the course, students evaluate and debate many of today's ideas and concepts revolving around cosmology.

PSY2100 Introductory Psychology

With its applications to behaviour and personality, psychology extends its reach into many aspects of our personal lives. The broad applications of this social science in both an applied and theoretical context are premised on a number of fundamental principles. Students explore historical breakthroughs that define the current boundaries of the discipline and interact with a number of the foundational concepts that resonate throughout daily life and popular culture. Students develop an introductory knowledge in the various schools of thought within the discipline.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

PSY4000 Developmental Psychology

One of the keys to self-knowledge is an understanding of the stages that human beings progress through during the course of their lives. Students analyze human behaviour from biological, psychological and social perspectives using principles from these disciplines to explain and anticipate behaviour across the lifespan. This enables students to articulate developmental tasks, special challenges and needs for each stage of human development.

PSY4470 Theories of Counselling

Professionals working in diverse social service sectors are often the first contact for individuals in crisis. Although they aren't counsellors, it's helpful to have a working knowledge of counselling methods. Students acquire an overview and basic working knowledge of the most applicable theories of counselling practice. The theories behind and practice of models such as client-centered, strengths based, cognitive, behavioural and solution focused are examined.

QUA0005 Introduction to Research

Research is a cornerstone for businesses and organizations to make sound decisions. Students learn the required steps in the research process using both quantitative and qualitative methods. Students define and develop a hypothesis and research strategy, design a questionnaire, collect and analyze data. This course covers topics including data types and sources, sampling methodology, statistical analysis, data analytics and analysis, experimental research, observation research, and research ethics.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

QUA2000 Statistics

Students explore fundamental statistical concepts and use statistical software to summarize, analyze and present both descriptive and inferential statistics. Topics include central tendency, variation, probability, central limit theorem, sampling, estimation, hypothesis testing and simple regression and correlation. These theoretical concepts are explained through practical examples from various sectors. Students develop the required background for further study related to research.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

QUA6127 Applied Research Methods

Working in teams, students develop and execute a full research study for hospitality and tourism industry clients in real time. The research involves specific delineation of problems, design of a research proposal, and collection of primary data and use secondary data. Students use software to execute their research and interpret the analytics. Through presentations and a detailed report outlining their findings, teams present the outcomes and recommendations of their study to their industry client for action. . Emphasis is on linking theory to practice by applying theoretical understanding to practical examples drawn from the hospitality and tourism industries.

Prerequisite(s): HRM6122 and MKT6119

Corerequisite(s):none

SCI2000 Environmental Science

Environmental science is an interdisciplinary study of how the earth works, human interaction with the earth and how to address the existing environmental problems. Students explore natural capital and the degradation. Students engage in case studies, critical thinking and analysis of alternatives in exploring solutions and trade-offs in trying to address degradation.

Prerequisite(s): ENL1100 and PHI1000

Corerequisite(s):none

SOC2000 Introduction to Sociology

When working with individuals and groups it is important to understand both the background and influences present. Students develop a familiarity with sociological theories and methodological approaches used to study individual and group behaviours. Students also examine variables that include culture, social class, race, and gender and how these variables may impact work with diverse individuals and groups.

Prerequisite(s): ENL1100

Corerequisite(s):none

SOC2001 Anti-Racism: Theory and Practice

Anti-racism is the practice of identifying, challenging, and changing the values, structures, and behaviours that perpetuate systemic racism. Students explore concepts of anti-oppressive practice, anti-racist pedagogy, diversity, and inclusion at the personal, societal, and institutional levels. Students develop an understanding of historical and present-day groups and figures that challenge oppressive structures in Canadian society. Through various learning activities and discussion boards, students will develop the necessary knowledge, attitude, and skills to become an authentic ally within society.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

SOC4001 Global Perspectives

Sociology, through its exploration of the organization of society and the connections between people and their surroundings, provides new ways of looking at the world. Using fundamental knowledge in the field of sociology, students analyze globalization and its impact on Canadian society. Students take opposing views to debate the opportunities and challenges that come with globalization.

TOU6121 Special Topics in Tourism

Current and emerging issues and trends that influence the Canadian and international tourism markets are explored using cases and examples from the tourism industry. Students examine the impacts of tourism. They discover alternative and emerging trends and develop the skills and knowledge to manage changes, challenges and opportunities within the dynamic tourism industry.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

TOU6129 Attractions Management

Students examine the role and nature of visitor attractions within a comprehensive tourism destination strategy. Students explore the essential components in the development of successful attractions, while reviewing the major challenges and issues of attractions marketing and management, including signage and parking. The use of case studies and real life local examples provide students with many opportunities for practical application of material presented.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

WKT6102 Co-Op Work Term II

Students are provided with experiential learning opportunities directly related to the hospitality and tourism industry. Students are given the option of undertaking a supervisory role within the industry sector in which their first co-op was completed or taking an entry-level position within a different sector of the industry. The goal is to expand the student's practical industry experience. Upon the student's return to the classroom, the co-op further enhances the shared learning environment by providing students with new experiences, perspectives and ideas.
