Additional Information

Algonquin College has been granted consent by the Minister of Colleges and Universities (MCU) to offer this applied degree for a seven-year term starting October 21, 2024. The College shall ensure that all students admitted to the above-named program during the period of consent have the opportunity to complete the program within a reasonable timeframe.

CO-OP INFORMATION

Co-operative education (Co-op) allows students to integrate their classroom learning with a real-world experience through paid work terms. Two academic terms prior to the cooperative education work term, students are required to actively participate in and successfully complete the self-directed co-op course, readiness activities and workshops.

Students must actively conduct a guided, self-directed job search and are responsible for securing approved program-related paid co-op employment. Students compete for co-op positions alongside students from Algonquin College and other Canadian and international colleges and universities. Algonquin College's Co-op Department provides assistance in developing co-op job opportunities and guides the overall process, but does not guarantee that a student will obtain employment in a co-op work term. Co-op students may be required to relocate to take part in the co-op employment opportunities available in their industry and must cover all associated expenses; e.g., travel, work permits, visa applications, accommodation and all other incurred expenses.

Co-op work terms are typically 14 weeks in duration and are completed during a term when students are not taking courses. For more information on your program's co-op level(s), visit the courses tab on your program's webpage.

International students enrolled in a co-op program are required by Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada (IRCC) to have a valid Co-op/Internship Work Permit prior to commencing their work term. Without this document International students are not legally eligible to engage in work in Canada that is part of an academic program. The Co-op/Internship Work Permit does not authorize international students to work outside the requirements of their academic program.

For more information on co-op programs, the co-op work/study schedule, as well as general and program-specific co-op eligibility criteria, please visit <http://www.algonquincollege.com/coop>.

Completion of the total number of co-op work terms listed under the courses section on the program page are mandatory for graduation. Co-op students must make every effort to remain on schedule and participate in co-op work terms as planned. Students who fail to complete co-op work terms as scheduled may be required to take an unscheduled break in their studies, resulting in a delay in graduation in order to complete their co-op at a later date. Taking an unscheduled break in studies can impact an international student's immigration status, including, in most cases, the ability to work. International students are advised to consult with the International Education Centre to understand the potential implications of unscheduled breaks at <http://www.algonquincollege.com/international/student-handouts/scheduled-unscheduled> -

TRANSFER CREDIT RECOGNITION

Applicants with degrees or degree level courses from Canadian institutions empowered to award degrees and from other degree granting institutions recognized by the Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities (MCU) are assessed on a case-by-case basis. To receive a course credit, a minimum grade of C- (60%) is required. Official transcripts and course descriptions/outlines must be presented with the application for credit recognition. Applicants with degrees or degree level courses from countries other than Canada or from postsecondary institutions not recognized by the MCU must have their degrees evaluated by a recognized Canadian public or private institution that specializes in the evaluation of international degree programs.

ADVANCED STANDING

Graduates of related Ontario College Diploma or Ontario College Advanced Diploma programs may be eligible for advanced standing into the degree program. Please visit the degree program listing or speak to the Program Coordinator for more information and to confirm eligibility.

DEGREE ELECTIVE INFORMATION

Students may choose from a variety of breadth courses. Courses from a range of disciplines are offered within the humanities, social sciences, sciences, global cultures and mathematics. Elective offerings vary from semester to semester.

Students manage the logistics of event operations including forecasting, promotion, sales, purchasing, human resources, food and beverage production and service, finance and quality performance review. Students plan, execute, manage and evaluate an event from conception to completion. Event planning portfolios are created to guide the execution of the event and to document their professional experience, and support the development of future career opportunities.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GED2300 Indigenous Self-Representation in Contemporary Canadian Culture

Historically, Indigenous peoples and their cultures have been dramatically misrepresented and stereotyped in Canadian literature, music, visual arts, film, and television as a result of ongoing attempts to colonize, marginalize, romanticize, and assimilate them. Starting with an historical overview of the oppressive act of misrepresenting, appropriating, and stereotyping Indigenous peoples and their cultures in Canada, students explore how contemporary Indigenous artists have responded to these misrepresentations by subverting, critiquing, challenging, and changing the representations of Indigenous peoples and their cultures in their own artistic works. Significant works of contemporary literature, music, visual arts, film, and television created by contemporary Indigenous artists who give voice to their experiences in Canada serve as the basis for critical analysis and creative reflection on the processes of self-representation and cultural reclamation of Indigenous voices and identity in Canada.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GEO2300 Principles of Urban Planning

Increasingly cities and communities are feeling the pressure of expansion, and people from all walks of life feel disconnected from the processes, procedures, and decisions that are affecting everyday life. Students consider urban transformation with a focus on practicing sustainability by exploring innovations in land use, transportation, resource planning and economic development, resulting in employment opportunities, as well as healthy and vibrant cities. Students use local and regional activities as a starting point for developing a knowledge base for future social and community involvement. Research projects and assignments encourage students to identify the gaps between theoretical approaches to urban planning and the practical applications as evidenced in their local surroundings.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

GEP1001 Cooperative Education and Job Readiness

Students are guided through a series of activities that prepare them to conduct a professional job search and succeed in the workplace. Through a detailed orientation students learn the cooperative education program policies and procedures related to searching and securing a work term opportunity. Students identify their strengths and transferable skills and participate in workshop-style sessions that focus on cover letter and resume development, interview techniques and job search strategies. Students learn how to navigate a web-based resource centre, which is used to post employment and cooperative education job opportunities. Students reflect on workplace success, ethics and responsibilities.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6102 Hotel Operations

The accommodation industry presents unique business and management challenges. Students explore hotel operations within various rooms division departments. An emphasis is placed on the understanding and interpretation of hotel performance metrics in the areas of revenue, rate management and occupancy patterns using industry-based scenarios.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6115 Cost Control in Hospitality and Tourism

Controlling expenses in food service, attractions retail and lodging operations is paramount to financial success. Students explore topics, such as purchasing, receiving, storing, issuing, budgeting, menu pricing, and labour cost control with emphasis on food and beverage operations. Various principles and procedures used to control and reduce costs are examined using practical examples and applications.

Prerequisite(s): FOD6103 and FOD6109
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6126 Hospitality Business Simulation and Analysis

Business simulations enable students to consolidate and apply knowledge and skills in an interactive, dynamic, and risk-free environment. Working in teams, students determine strategies, make decisions and apply business management principles across various departments and functional areas including finance, sales, marketing, operations and human resources. Students manage the operation and management of a hotel using a hotel operational training simulation software program.

Prerequisite(s): ACC6107 and MGT6117
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6130 Career Development and Management

Successful career development and management depends on developing strategies for networking, self-promotion and lifelong learning. Students assess their personal skills and attributes, explore career opportunities and paths within the hospitality and tourism industry and use these findings to establish career goals. They simulate the job search process by creating a targeted resume, practicing interviewing techniques and developing a working professional portfolio. Students network with employers from different sectors of the industry and discuss career opportunities. Through hands-on workshops and seminars on topics including business etiquette, networking and workplace relationships, students develop the skills to navigate, advance and succeed in today's dynamic workplace.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6133 Cases in Hospitality and Tourism Management

Applied capstone courses challenge students to synthesize and integrate knowledge and skills from different functional areas of the program. Case studies illustrate realistic hospitality and tourism industry situations to help contextualize learning. Students use problem-solving, decision-making, and critical-thinking skills in teams to analyze cases and evaluate and formulate solutions. Students lead class discussions to solve cases and to present and justify their proposed solutions.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6135 Strategic Management in Hospitality and Tourism

Managers must have a thorough knowledge and understanding of the internal and external environment to make informed decisions. Working individually and in teams, students analyze hospitality or tourism business case studies to understand the development of a long-term strategic plan to create and sustain a competitive advantage. Students synthesize and integrate information from multiple areas to apply to real-world problems. Students perform relevant research, analyze and interpret results, and manage the strategic planning process to determine the future direction of an organization.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6136 Hospitality and Tourism Business Law and Ethics

The hospitality, tourism and events industries must adhere to statutory and regulatory requirements. Students examine ethical concepts and principles, compare a variety of ethical decision-making principles and models to make ethically sound decisions in a variety of contexts. Students investigate the codes of ethics for various businesses. Through case study analysis and workplace scenarios, students develop knowledge and skills to recognize, evaluate, and resolve legal and ethical dilemmas to make informed business decisions.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

HOS6137 Culinary and Beverage Tourism

Culinary tourism offers travelers an authentic cultural experience through the lens of food and beverage. Students focus on the history, heritage, and stories of local producers to unlock the power and potential of food tourism. Students investigate the journey traveled by food and beverage from the point of creation to the point of consumption. Through field trips to local food and drink producers, students participate as culinary tourists and work together to create a cluster of interrelated experiences to promote sustainable tourism offerings for a particular region.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

HRM6114 Introduction to Human Resources Management

A comprehensive understanding of human resources management is essential to the recruitment, hiring, evaluation, training, development and compensation of individuals in any industry. Students develop an understanding of job analysis and job descriptions and the role they play in human resources management. The unique human resources skills required to manage volunteers are also examined. Through case study, guest lectures and role play, students examine foundational human resources management concepts within the Canadian legal context.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

HRM6118 Organizational Behaviour

Organizational behavior focuses on how individuals and groups interact with each other and with management to support employee productivity, workspace experience and job satisfaction. Students investigate strategies to promote a healthy and effective workplace. Through discussions, debates, and case studies, students apply principles and current research to predict and interpret behaviours of individuals and groups.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

LAN3101 Spanish-Beginner 1

The Spanish language is an asset when communicating in the workplace. Students with no prior knowledge of Spanish acquire basic forms and structures to interact and communicate in a simple way with Spanish speakers. Class instruction and practice, repeated feedback, and exposure to a variety of language samples support students to gain basic oral expression and comprehension using simple phrases that develop vocabulary, pronunciation, and comprehension. Students begin to appreciate cultural and linguistic differences when Spanish is used in the workplace.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

LAW2014 Law

The reach of the rule of law extends into our lives on a daily basis. As much as it is present in our lives, very few people are aware of the processes, procedures and theories that guide and underpin the development and maintenance of a functional legal system. With attention to key historical figures and events, students explore the scope, jurisdiction, and key concepts of the sub-disciplines within the field of law. Through an introduction to legal arguments and methodologies, students distinguish between various legal systems and wrestle with the difference between law and justice.

Prerequisite(s): none

MGT6117 Revenue Management in Hospitality and Tourism

Hospitality managers utilize revenue management methods to anticipate demand and optimize revenue in order to achieve the best possible financial result. Students discuss the foundations of revenue management as well as its importance in the hospitality industry. Students analyze historic data to forecast demand and optimize revenue in a customer-centric fashion. Weekly exercises that mimic industry-specific situations are used to develop revenue management skills. Through research and group discussion, students analyze current trends in the revenue management field.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6120 Entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship is an important facet in expanding business opportunities. Students identify, research, and evaluate current and emerging trends in business. Students investigate organizational structures and develop financial, operating, and marketing management strategies to support a business case. Through the development, presentation and reflection on business plans, students practice and develop entrepreneurial skills.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6130 International Management

Different areas of the world have unique cultures, best practices, regulations, and laws that can impact the company's corporate and business management practices as they expand globally. Students explore opportunities, risks, and challenges of doing business in the complex global environment and examine organizational functions in an international context. Through case studies, research on current and emerging geopolitical issues students develop an understanding of strategies for the management of people and processes across borders and cultures.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MGT6131 Risk and Crisis Management

Managing risk, liability and crises are critical elements of any business. Students are introduced to the key principles and concepts and view them within the context of adventure tourism. Students review relevant Canadian laws and liability risks associated with the hospitality and tourism industry, and practice identifying and treating risks common to business environments. Structured management approaches are examined along with a review of the requirements for both accountability and prevention.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

MKT6112 Digital Marketing and Sales

The combination of globalization and evolving technology require hospitality and tourism marketers to have a working knowledge of traditional media channels, social media, digital marketing, and visual design. Students explore traditional and emerging marketing techniques from an integrated perspective. Students examine key approaches to sales by focusing on the buyer's decision-making process and marketing mix. Collaborating with an industry partner, students create and present a customized digital marketing plan.

Prerequisite(s): MKT6108

PHI2002 Ethical Decision Making

To avoid potential prosecution, companies and their employees are well-advised to engage in ethical decision-making practices in all business situations. Students examine ethical concepts and principles, compare a variety of ethical decision-making models and utilize these principles and models to make ethically sound decisions in a variety of contexts. Students also design a code of ethics, practice making ethically-based decisions and develop the analytical skills required to recognize, evaluate and resolve ethical dilemmas in the workplace.

Prerequisite(s): PHI1000
Corerequisite(s):none

PHI4000 Philosophy and Popular Culture

Many facets of today's popular culture engage, directly or indirectly, with the concerns of a variety of philosophical traditions. Drawing on a number of examples, students explore both the way popular culture permeates and spreads through society and the way it interprets and presents philosophical questions. Students develop skills and techniques for assessing the soundness and validity of thought experiments.

Prerequisite(s): PHI1000
Corerequisite(s):none

PHI4002 The Philosophy of Drugs

Drugs are everywhere: professionals prescribe them to us to make us "better"; we take them recreationally; we give them to our children, pets and other loved ones; we buy them on the streets and in grocery stores. What are "drugs"? Why are some drugs legal and others not? How do drugs get to market? What ethical issues are relevant in a global drug industry? Are current intellectual property regimes appropriate if the goal of drug research is to promote benefits to society? Students critically examine these, and other, questions through the lens of historical and contemporary ethical, philosophical and legal theories and arguments. Students engage in various peer-oriented learning activities throughout the course.

Prerequisite(s): none

PHI4003 The Philosophy of Love and Sex

Love and sex are central to the human condition, and have been topics of academic inquiry and controversy throughout history. Various practices surrounding love and sex are celebrated in Western culture, such as monogamy and marriage, while other practices, such as polygamy and pedophilia, are condemned. Why is this? Students critically explore these and other issues surrounding love and sex using examples from popular music, movies and literature, framing those issues with the help of historical and contemporary philosophical theories and arguments. Students engage in various peer-oriented learning activities throughout the course.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

PHI4004 Technology, Society and the Environment

Environmental issues have come to occupy a central place in the marketplace, politics, policy, and society at large. Owing largely to the many environmental consequences that have accompanied industrialization, we humans have been forced to rethink the complex relationship between technology, society and the environment. Students investigate philosophical concepts and theories surrounding technology, society and the environment including: the "naturalness" of technology, sustainability and animal rights. Students critically examine course material by focusing on questions such as: What is nature, and what role do/should humans occupy in it? What do we owe non-human organisms? What do we owe future generations? Students engage in various peer-oriented learning activities throughout the course.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

PHI4100 Survival in the Information Age: Risk and the Media

On an almost daily basis, the media, through its various outlets - television, radio, web sites, RSS, and podcasts - reports on issues that address our wellbeing. Through discussions, readings, and assignments, students enhance their ability to interpret and question information presented by the media by better understanding the inherent risks. Issues like alternative medicine (i.e. vaccinations) and socio-legal issues (i.e. bullying, hacking, surveillance, privacy) provide grounds for students to use principles from the social science as a means to think critically about real and perceived risks in daily life.

Prerequisite(s): PHI1000

PHY4000 Black Holes, Big Bangs and the Cosmos

The dynamic and exciting field of Cosmology outlines our current understanding of the Universe from its start, at the so-called Big Bang, through the ensuing 13 plus billion years to the present and beyond. Students learn how to discuss our present understanding of the three phases of the Universe as well as its five part make up, with matter making up only 4% of the whole. Students explain our knowledge of the various phases of evolution of the Cosmos and also the latest theories and experiments that are trying to address our uncertainties. Throughout the course, students evaluate and debate many of today's ideas and concepts revolving around cosmology.

Prerequisite(s): none

PSI2000 Navigating Canada's Political Landscape

A developed knowledge of government and politics is key to an effective participation in public life. Drawing on current events, students explore the societal, cultural and constitutional context along with the major political parties and institutions that shape the Canadian political landscape. Students develop skills and techniques that allow them to position politicians, parties, and policies, past and present, on the spectrum of political ideology and Canadian political traditions. Working together and individually, students analyze issues from the perspective of various political approaches.

Prerequisite(s): none

PSY2100 Introductory Psychology

With its applications to behaviour and personality, psychology extends its reach into many aspects of our personal lives. The broad applications of this social science in both an applied and theoretical context are premised on a number of fundamental principles. Students explore historical breakthroughs that define the current boundaries of the discipline and interact with a number of the foundational concepts that resonate throughout daily life and popular culture. Students develop an introductory knowledge in the various schools of thought within the discipline.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

QUA0005 Introduction to Research

There are a variety of steps in the research process that incorporate quantitative and qualitative methods, and primary and secondary data sources. Topics include data collection and management, survey design, and sampling. Students use software to support the design, deployment, and interpretation of research inquiries.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

QUA2000 Statistics

Students explore fundamental statistical concepts and use statistical software to summarize, analyze and present both descriptive and inferential statistics. Topics include central tendency, variation, probability, central limit theorem, sampling, estimation, hypothesis testing and simple regression and correlation. These theoretical concepts are explained through practical examples from various sectors. Students develop the required background for further study related to research.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

QUA6127 Applied Research Methods

Applied research studies can be used to analyze everyday problems and to support decision-making. Working in teams, students develop and execute a full research study for industry clients in real-time. Students design a research proposal including the collection of primary data, and use of secondary data. Students use industry-standard software to execute their research and interpret the results. Through collaboration with industry partners throughout the research process, students experience how research is used to investigate industry problems and inform decisions.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

SCI2000 Environmental Science

Environmental science is an interdisciplinary study of how the earth works, human interaction with the earth and how to address the existing environmental problems. Students explore natural capital and the degradation. Students engage in case studies, critical thinking and analysis of alternatives in exploring solutions and trade-offs in trying to address degradation.

Prerequisite(s): ENL1100 and PHI1000
Corerequisite(s):none

SOC2000 Introduction to Sociology

When working with individuals and groups it is important to understand both the background and influences present. Students develop a familiarity with sociological theories and methodological approaches used to study individual and group behaviours. Students also examine variables that include culture, social class, race, and gender and how these variables may impact work with diverse individuals and groups.

Prerequisite(s): ENL1100
Corerequisite(s):none

SOC2001 Anti-Racism: Theory and Practice

Anti-racism is the practice of identifying, challenging, and changing the values, structures, and behaviours that perpetuate systemic racism. Students explore concepts of anti-oppressive practice, anti-racist pedagogy, diversity, and inclusion at the personal, societal, and institutional levels. Students develop an understanding of historical and present-day groups and figures that challenge oppressive structures in Canadian society. Through various learning activities and discussion boards, students will develop the necessary knowledge, attitude, and skills to become an authentic ally within society.

Prerequisite(s): none
Corerequisite(s):none

SOC4000 Criminology

The interdisciplinary study of social science examining the individual and social aspects of crime is known as criminology. Students work through an introduction to the social science perspective on crime. Presentations, discussions, and assignments allow students to investigate the various theoretical positions related to crime and criminal behaviour. Working forward from the types and definitions of crime, students trace some of the links between government policy and the impacts of these policies on both society and the individual.

Prerequisite(s): SOC2000

Corerequisite(s):none

SOC4001 Global Perspectives

Sociology, through its exploration of the organization of society and the connections between people and their surroundings, provides new ways of looking at the world. Using fundamental knowledge in the field of sociology, students analyze globalization and its impact on Canadian society. Students take opposing views to debate the opportunities and challenges that come with globalization.

Prerequisite(s): SOC2000

Corerequisite(s):none

TOU6121 Special Topics in Tourism

Current and emerging issues and trends that influence the Canadian and international tourism markets are explored using cases and examples from the tourism industry. Students examine the relationship between social, environmental, and economic factors and tourism. They investigate emerging trends and drivers of change and develop knowledge to manage challenges and opportunities within the dynamic tourism industry.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

TOU6129 Attractions Management

Visitor attractions play an important role within a comprehensive tourism destination strategy. Students explore the essential components in the development and management of attractions. Students investigate strategies to manage seasonality and to maximize guest experiences while minimizing the impact on attractions and local community. Through case studies and real-life examples students analyze, evaluate and provide recommendations to enhance attractions.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

WKT6100 Co-Op Work Term I

Students are provided with experiential learning opportunities directly related to the hospitality and tourism industry. Focus for this first work term is to have students gain an entry-level position within any recognized sector of the hospitality industry. Students develop a deeper understanding of the basic skill set required to succeed within this industry. The co-op experience further enhances the shared learning environment by providing the students with new understanding, perspectives and ideas.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none

WKT6102 Co-Op Work Term II

Students are provided with experiential learning opportunities directly related to the hospitality and tourism industry. Students are given the option of undertaking a supervisory role within the industry sector in which their first co-op was completed or taking an entry-level position within a different sector of the industry. The goal is to expand the student's practical industry experience.

Upon the student's return to the classroom, the co-op further enhances the shared learning environment by providing students with new experiences, perspectives and ideas.

Prerequisite(s): none

Corerequisite(s):none
