

IF YOU'RE HAVING A BAD TRIP...

- Go to a safe environment (if you're not already in one) and play calming music.
- Surrender to the experience (rather than trying to control it).
- Try to meditate or relax.

The only way to guarantee you won't have a bad trip is to not use hallucinogens.

IF SOMEONE ELSE IS HAVING A BAD TRIP...

- Take them to a calm, safe environment.
- Reassure them that you're their friend and that in time the experience will pass.
- Help them meditate or relax.

SAFER TRIPPING

MAGIC MUSHROOMS, LSD, AND OTHER HALLUCINOGENS

REDUCE YOUR RISKS

ALGONQUIN
COLLEGE

YOU AND SAFER TRIPPING

Using hallucinogens can be risky since they are illegal drugs. You can never know for sure what you're buying or using. There are other risks too. Some are related to how hallucinogens affect your mind and body. Others are related to your relationships with people. Here are some ways you can reduce those risks.

BEFORE YOU START:

Check your drugs

Whenever possible, check your drugs. Test strips are helpful but only tell you if a specific drug is in the sample. A drug checking service can tell you the composition and strength of your drugs, screen out potential contaminants and provide harm reduction information about drug effects.

Think about why you want to get high

Try not to use hallucinogens as a way of avoiding or coping with problems.

Know your dealer

It's best to choose someone you feel safe with and who knows about the drugs they sell.

Find a buddy (who won't be tripping)

Using alone can mean coping by yourself if you get injured or have a bad trip.

Plan your trip

Choose a safe, peaceful place to hang out, knowing that most trips last 8-12 hours. Talk to your friend about things you could do if you have a bad trip.

WHEN YOU'RE TRIPPING...

Start slow, and with a small amount

It's best to start with small amounts and wait 90 minutes or more before taking more.

Be sure you're in the right frame of mind

Using hallucinogens can be fun, spiritual or educational if you embrace the experience. It can also be scary, especially if you try to control it rather than "roll with it."

Avoid bad experiences

Steer clear of climbing up on things, looking in the mirror, or having sex with anyone other than a comfortable, familiar partner. These activities can have unpleasant or unexpected results.

Stick to one substance at a time

Using cannabis and alcohol while tripping can change your experience in unpredictable ways.

Stay away from the steering wheel

Your judgment and coordination may be greatly impaired.

THINK ABOUT NOT USING HALLUCINOGENS IF...

- You or a family member have a history of mental health issues
Hallucinating can trigger mental health issues such as the symptoms of depression, anxiety or schizophrenia.
- You're living with a heart condition
Many hallucinogens affect blood pressure and heart rate.
- You're experiencing symptoms of a mental health issue
This includes depression or anxiety. Hallucinogens may interact with mental health medications.
- You can't keep yourself or others safe while using hallucinogens
Safety needs to be a main priority.
- You're using hallucinogens too often
It's best not to use drugs as your main way of having fun or handling boredom, unhappiness or stress in your life.
- You're concerned about people finding out about your use of hallucinogens
Having and maintaining good relationships with your family and friends is more important.
